ST. PETERSBURG, JAN. 25.—THE LACK OF MONEY AND FOOD IS ALREADY OPERATING AGAINST A CONTINUANCE OF THE STRIKE.

WEeping women are returning to the cigarette factories pleading to be allowed to resume work, but the managers are afraid to re-open in consequence of the threats of the strikers to sack their establishments.

AN OFFICIAL NOTE THIS MORNING ANNOUNCES THAT EMPEROR NICHOLAS HAS EXPRESSED HIS THANKS TO GENERAL TREPPOFF, THE NEW GOVERNOR GENERAL OF ST. PETERSBURG, FOR HIS DISTINGUISHED AND ZEALOUS SERVICES AS CHIEF OF POLICE OF MOSCOW.

POLICE ARE ACTIVE.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—The police are actively searching out the leaders of the present ferment. Three well known Russian authors and a prominent editor have been arrested, and the prisons are filled with agitators, revolutionists and student orators. The consensus of opinion is that the immediate future actions of the agitators depends on what occurs in Moscow and other large cities of Russia, where the workmen are beginning to strike. Over 100,000 men are out in the old capital of the empire. A telephone message from Moscow reported that there had been no disorder there as yet.

St. Petersburg is now in a state of siege. General Trepoff, until recently chief of police of Moscow, has been appointed governor general of St. Petersburg, and has taken up quarters in the winter palace. General Trepoff is a man of great energy, but the measures he adopted at Moscow for suppressing the student demonstrations in December last provoked much resentment, and the revolutionists recently condemned him to death.

The aspect of the Russian capital is decidedly more calm. Business, which had been at a complete standstill, has

CIVIL WAR SHELL DID IT

(By Telegraph to The Age.)
Clarksville, Tenn., Jan. 25.—Charles Warr, a farmer of Todd county, Ky., was killed here by the explosion of a shell, a relic of the civil war. Mr. Warr was in the office of a tobacco warehouse alone at the time and it is supposed he threw the shell into the fire, thinking it a stick of wood. It exploded about eight o'clock and had been kept in a warehouse for some time.

FOOLISH GIRL DIED TOO SOON

Milligan Arrested As He Tried to Die Tells a Remarkable Story.

(By Telegraph to The Age.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 25.—Arthur Henry Milligan, with whom Florence O. Groves agreed to commit suicide at the Hotel Blatz, and who disappeared after she had fulfilled her agreement Monday morning, was arrested at the residence of Robert Barlow at Racine. His capture took place only after he had attempted suicide and had been prevented by Chief Pfister. After his arrest Milligan calmly detailed the story of his life and the incidents of the girl's death. He said that Florence Groves took carbolic acid in his presence at the hotel after she had made three attempts to kill herself. Milligan was not married to Florence Groves. The couple left the Groves residence at Chicago and eloped with the intention of marrying, but lack of time prevented the carrying out of their plans.

"Florence Groves knew what the end would be when she decided to elope with me, and she was eager to die with me," Milligan said. "She was engaged to a schoolteacher of Orlando, Ill., but she loved me better. I told her that the day she married him I would kill myself, or else would take my life on her birthday, Jan. 27. Every day that we were at the hotel we planned to kill ourselves. Finally we set Monday morning as the day. Sunday morning she tried three times to kill herself with poisons I had purchased. She drank oxalic acid, iodine and wood alcohol in turn, but they only acted as emetics. She begged and implored me not to go first, as she did not want to see me die. She asked me to pour out the acid, and I filled a wine glass with it. As her last request she asked me to hand it to her, but I refused repeatedly. At last she nerved herself, snatched the glass and swallowed the dose. 'Don't leave me until I'm dead,' she implored in a dull whisper. As I watched the terrible convulsions that wrecked her form, the foam that speckled her lips, the agonized setting of the eyes and the mortal pain expressed in her every movement, my nerve failed me. I did not have the courage to follow her."

Milligan was brought back to Milwaukee.

CAVE OF COUNTERFEITERS

(By Telegraph to The Age.)

Waco, Tex., Jan. 25.—Cliff Torrence, deputy United States marshal, and William Curry, a special city officer, discovered a counterfeiters' cave near the new Country Club house, a mile north of the city limits. The cave was formed by digging into the bank of the river. The opening was concealed with a screen of brush. Inside was a complete outfit for the manufacture of spurious coins of various denominations, from dimes to dollars. A mass of white metal, a furnace, molds, dies and a lot of bogus coins were discovered and stored in the office of the

APPEAL MADE TO KILL CZAR AND GRAND DUKES

(By Cable to The Age.)

ST. PETERSBURG, JAN. 25.—A second proclamation, dated Jan. 23, is being distributed on the streets and calls upon the people to kill the czar, the grand dukes and nobles of the court for the slaughter of the people Sunday. The proclamation reads:

"The proletariat of all countries are united.

"Citizens, you yesterday witnessed the bestial cruelty of the autocratic government. You saw blood flowing in the streets. You saw hundreds slaughtered, defenders of the cause of labor. You saw the death, heard the groans of the wounded women and defenseless children. The blood and brains of workingmen were spattered around where their heads had been laid.

"Who directed the soldiers to aim their rifles and fire bullets at the breasts of the laborers?

"It was the emperor, the grand dukes, the ministers, the generals, the nobles of the court. They are murderers. Slay them!

"To arms, comrades! Seize the arsenals, and the arms at the depots, and at the gunsmiths. Lay low the prison walls. Liberate the defenders of freedom. Demolish the police and gendarmie stations, and all the government and state buildings.

"We must throw down the emperor, and the government, and must have our own government.

"Long live the revolution!

"Long live the constituent assembly of the representatives of the people!"

Coshockton Man, Former Subject, Wants Monarchy Overthrown.

Isaac Cohen, who resides on North Second street, is probably more deeply interested in the recent outbreaks at St. Petersburg and Moscow, which are shaking the very foundations of Russia, than any other man in Coshockton.

Mr. Cohen was born in Russia and has many relatives there from whom he receives letters occasionally.

He has therefore been in close touch with the affairs of his native land and the recent uprising of the laboring classes did not therefore cause him so much surprise, as it did many other Americans who knew little or nothing of the dissatisfaction and unrest which has been gnawing at Russia's vitals while little Japan has been tearing at her exterior.

An Age reporter called on Mr. Cohen and learned his views upon the situation in Czar Nicholas' dominions.

"It looks like it could have but one end," said Mr. Cohen, "and that is an open revolution. I am glad to see it though, for the working people in my country have long been oppressed by the tyrannical rulers. But they were never organized like they are today to struggle with their oppressors. There was nothing of this kind going on when I lived in Russia for in those days the people simply submitted to being trampled upon but their blood has at last been aroused and its hard to tell where the matter will end. It looks like the bourgeoisie would be thrown off and Russia will be free. It means a lot of bloodshed but the gain will be worth the cost."

Mr. Cohen's assertions look reasonable. The fact that Russians, trained from infancy to look upon the Czar as almost divine, have revolted against his power, is proof enough that they cannot now be awed.

SECY. JOHN HAY ILL WITH GRIP

The passing of an ordinance empowering the mayor to appoint a janitor and special police for the city building, the tabling of the "snow and ice" ordinance and the payment of the Seasongood & Meyer judgment for $1000 were the important things done by the city council in regular session Tuesday evening.

Messrs. Pharron, Wisenburger, Craig Crawford and Denzer were present when President Weisner called the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock. After Clerk Wimmer had read the minutes the snow and ice ordinance was given its third reading. Mr. Wisenburger raised the question whether the city council had any business taking this matter upon them and if it was not the duty of the board of public service to take care of the sidewalks. Solicitor Hahn said that while the service board is supposed to look after the repairing and improving of the sidewalks it has nothing to do with Keeping Them Clean.

When asked who would clean the crossings Mr. Hahn replied that this duty would of course devolve upon the city as no property owner could be expected to do this.

It soon became apparent that the majority of the members present had already made up their minds to deal the snow and ice ordinance a solar plexus blow when it came to a vote but it didn't come to a vote

CHINA SAYS RUSSIA FIBS REGARDING HER NEUTRALITY

Secy. Hay Receives Reply From Pekin-- Says Russians Broke Faith.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Secretary of State Hay has received China's answer to the American government's communication calling attention to the Russian charges that the Chinese were violating neutrality. Regarding the charges that the Chinese bandits were enlisted in the Japanese army, the Chinese government calls attention to the fact that they were enlisted by the Russians as frontier guards and fought against the Japanese army. If it is true, as alleged, that they are enlisted in the Japanese army, that is a matter for the belligerents. In the opinion of the Chinese government, the subjects of a neutral power have the right as private citizens to enlist in a foreign army. Whenever these bandits entered the Chinese neutral zone every effort was made for their arrest and punishment, and in most cases they have been arrested.

Regarding the Ryeshitein incident, it is said that the seizure was an unexpected by the Chinese as by the Russians. The Chinese government did everything it could against such seizure. The Chinese government later requested Japan to return the vessel, and, while the incident is not yet closed, China considers that her government has done all possible to the

The Maotao islands are said to have been used by the Japanese as a base for their navy. The Chinese government for the past year has stationed the swift cruiser Haiki to watch this island, and the local prefect summoned there the gunboat Haipu to patrol those waters. No sign of any landing of Japanese has been reported to the government. Regarding the articles of contraband alleged to have been sent to Dainy, the answer says no ships have left Chefoo with the knowledge of the Chinese government for Dainy, and no clearance papers for that port have been issued by the Chinese custom officials. If ships have run the blockade that is the belligerents' lookout.

The Chinese government considers that Russia has violated neutrality in a number of instances. Bridges have been built by the Russians west of the Liao river, and Russian troops have encamped on the west side of the river, which is supposed to mark the boundary line of the neutral zone. In many places in the neutral zone the Russians have forced the sale of provisions. The Chinese have made many arrests of Russians smuggling ammunition, arms and other contraband articles.

MORGAN RUN AND WADE UP

Troubles To Be Finally Fixed This Week—Pres. Green On Convention.

The Coshockton delegates to the national convention of miners at Indianapolis are returning home.

State Vice President Sullivan arrived today on No. 10, District President William Green came Tuesday night and State President Haskins is expected this afternoon. Delegate Edwin Miller returned earlier.

"It was a glorious convention," said President Green to an Age reporter "and while there was nothing special coming up, the interest never flagged for an instant.

Honor to Haskins.

"On of the happiest events of the session was the election of President Haskins as a delegate to the Brussels parliament, whence he goes in May. It is a splendid honor and is ample atonement for the popularity of our state president, over the country.

"The one thing that marred our convention was the action of Randall, the Wyoming man who made the most absurd charges against President John Mitchell, that he or no one else could anywhere near sustain. There was not a spark of foundation for his wild statements and he was boosted out of the organization with a unanimous boost. He was a long-haired woolly gentleman and does harm only to himself.

Ohio Tax Not Changed.

"An important act of the convention was the increasing of the per capita tax to the national organization from 10 cents to 25 cents. This will not affect the Ohio miners though. The boys will continue as of yore to pay one per cent. of their net earnings, and the state organization will pay the increase tax out of these funds. There will be nothing felt directly by the Ohio miners.

Ben Franklin And Carnegie Together

One Founder of First And Other of Most Public Libraries---The Educational Value Thereof---A Paper by Miss Lucy Beach.

A recent session of the Chautauqua Circle, one of the most entertaining papers of the year was that read by Miss Lucy Beach on "The Educational Value of the Public Library." Through the courtesy of Miss Beach the Age is permitted to reproduce the paper. It follows:

In an introduction to one of his books Mr. Carnegie said "The most imperative duty of the state is the universal education of the masses. No money which can be usefully spent for this indispensable end should be denied. Public sentiment should, on the contrary, approve the doctrine that the more that can be judiciously spent, the better for the country. There is no insurance of nations so cheap as the enlightenment of the people." Is he not the Benjamin Franklin of today? Of two men who stand eminent for shrewdness and practical wisdom, one is the first founder of a library in America, the other is the greatest founder of libraries. As we all know, the public library movement in the United States originated with Benjamin Franklin in the year Washington was born, 1732. Fifty years ago there were only some 600 libraries, having a hard time to exist, and with a grand total of not more than two million books. The United States now boasts of not less than eight thousand libraries and with four libraries alone that can boast of having more books than had all the libraries of the country half a century ago. The year 1849 marks the beginning of the free public library. This was the first great event in library history when New Hampshire passed an act authorizing libraries to be maintained by taxes the same as other municipal, county and state institutions. Soon a great procession of other states followed. The second important law was passed in our own great state—Ohio—in 1838, when the legislature made it possible for county commissioners to bind a county to maintain a library by taxation. The first county to take advantage of this law was Van Wert. The county was encouraged by an endowment from the J. S. Brumback estate. The Brumback library was dedicated and opened to the people of Van Wert county on the first day of the twentieth century and is America's first county library. The great problem has been—how can the people—young and old, be best reached and most benefited by our libraries? The problem of reaching the people of our towns and cities has been, in a great degree, solved; but the admirable feature of the Brumback's library is the fact that, being a county library, its privileges can be extended to the people of the country and to the town and city alike. It is well enough to talk of the beauties of nature and to fancy that the people of the country are never weary of its charms. But one grows tired of a nature diet only. The farmer has his telephone and free postal delivery but why should not he, as well as the resident of the town or city, have the advantages of the best literature? When the family on the farm once begins to share in the privileges of the family in town, then the migration from the country to town will cease and American life will become more healthful for we all know that the health of our national life is dependent on that of our rural life so we can easily see the educating and important work of the county library.

The public library of the present time is a vastly different institution from that of other days which had its books chained to their appointed places. Now the public is given all possible access to the books. The "open shelf" system recommends the best books by placing each book where it can recommend itself by being seen and handled. A borrower may come for a book of fiction, see an interesting book on travel take it and discover an amazing fact, that there are other interesting books besides novels; some accidentally find, browsing among the books, that they have a taste for philosophy, nature books, etc. But even fiction has its value. As Dana, of the Newark, N. J., library says "At its best it interprets life for us, broadening and mellowing us; at its poorest it diverts us and makes us forget the pettiness of our work and spirit." And more yet, the books are sent to book readers. Selected volumes are sent to localities which have no libraries even delivery. Every library, if possible, should have an art collection. The free public library of Worcester, Mass., claims to be the first in this country to make a large expenditure for photographs. They are pasted in folders also arranged in envelopes and sent out the same as books so they can be examined and studied in the homes. The reference department is used by students of literature, by high school pupils and by members of literary clubs and societies.

Although the function of the library is the education of good citizens

yet its greatest opportunity is on the young people. While the library affords information and recreation for those of mature years, it helps to form the characters of the children. What can boys and girls learn in six or eight years and only one and one half per cent of the children in the United States go through the high school. Teachers can not accomplish impossibilities but they are to blame, wherever there is a library, if they do not graduate all their pupils at whatever age they may leave school, into the "People's University." The public library must be made to supplement the public school. As President Eliot said: "The public school education except for the insignificant number who take the high school course, is, without the library, a mere bread-and-butter course (for most children dry bread only). Without the library it makes merely bread-winners, not men. But, supplemented by the library, it starts its pupils on a life long course of self instruction, which will make them men and women, worthy citizens of the republic."

How can a boy, leaving school at fourteen, know of his rights and duties as a citizen? Of course he has used the library from his earliest years he can know little, but he will be started on the path of self education. So the library doubles the value of the education the child receives in school and imparts a desire for knowledge which serves as an incentive but the means for a continuance of education.

Second—it provides for the education of adults who have lacked, or failed to make use of their early opportunities.

Thirdly—it is of unknown benefit to the town by furnishing to hundreds the highest and purest entertainment and elevating the general standard of intelligence throughout the community.

Thus you see the spirit and practice of the library is to seek and accept every opportunity to get the books into the hands of the people and thus allow the books to do the most completely the purpose for which the institution stands.

Tragedy at a Spread.
Columbus, Ind., Jan. 25.—During a quarrel over a woman Andrew Henry, 22, stabbed and wounded, perhaps fatally, Brazilla Rund, 18, and created a panic among the other guests at an oyster supper at the home of Charles Strode, two miles north of Georgetown. In the stampede that followed two young women fell down stairs and were badly injured. The assailant escaped and has not been apprehended, though the sheriff and a posse are searching the hills for him.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Representative Mann of Illinois introduced a resolution providing that all laws affecting imports of merchandise and entry of persons into the United States from foreign countries shall apply to merchandise and persons coming from the Panama canal zone into the United States. He also introduced a bill to authorize the United States to acquire by condemnation proceedings all stock of the Panama Railroad company.

Charges Against a Judge.
Washington Jan. 25.—In the mail of nearly every member of the house of representatives was a letter signed by the firm name of Watt & Dohan, attorneys-at-law, Philadelphia, setting forth 12 reasons why constitutional action should be taken against Judge E. Henry Lacombe of the circuit court for the southern district of New York. Chairman Jenkins of the judiciary committee intends to lay the matter before the committee. The main allegation is that Judge Lacombe has been instrumental in preventing a final decree being handed down in certain litigation.

BLADENSBURG HAD BIG K. OF P. BANQUET

Bladensburg, Jan. 25.—The members of the K. of P. lodge of this place held their annual mid-winter banquet and social at their club rooms on Wednesday. After partaking of an elegant supper provided by Messrs. Stonehocker, McCammett and Vanwinkle, the guests were treated with some choice selections of music rendered by the McQueen orchestra. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way. The out of town guests were: Mr. J. D. Love, of Long Branch, Cal.; Mrs. G. W. Horn, of New Guilford; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Swiger, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Mel. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Vanwinkle, Messrs. Fred Bumpus, Jane McKees and Charles Ealy.

Jumped the Track.
Ogden, Utah, Jan. 25.—Southern Pacific passenger train No. 1, known as the "Overland Limited," jumped the track at Kodak, four miles east of Love Lock, Nev., and eight of the ten cars composing the train left the rails. No one was seriously injured, although a number were bruised badly. The train was making good speed when the accident occurred. The cause of the derailment is ascribed to the springing of a switch point, which caused the cars to climb the rails.

Spreading of Rails.
Charlotte, N. C., Jan. 25.—One man killed, seven seriously hurt and seven others injured to some extent was the result of a wreck on the Asheville and Aberdeen railroad at Roy, N. C. All passengers on board save two or three were hurt to some extent. Rev. G. A. Oglesby, pastor of the Aberdeen Methodist church, was killed. The wreck was caused by spreading of the rails on a curve. Two cars went down an embankment ten feet high and were demolished.

Negro University Damaged.
Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 25.—The main building which includes the dormitory of the Roger Williams university for negroes, was destroyed by fire. No casualties resulted, but much personal property was destroyed, and the school will not be in session for some time.

MALARIA IN THE SYSTEM

Holly Springs, Miss., March 24, 1905. While building railroads in Tennessee some twelve years ago a number of hands contracted fever and various forms of blood and skin diseases. I carried S. S. S. in my commissary and gave it to my hands with most gratifying results. I can recommend S. S. S. as the finest preparation for Malaria, chills and fever, as well as all blood and skin diseases. W. I suffered greatly from Boils, which would break out on different parts of my body. I saw S. S. S. advertised and after using about three bottles I was cured, and for the last three years have had no trouble whatever. A. W. ZIEBER, 217 Read St., Evansville, Ind.

I began using your S. S. S. probably ten years ago for Malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and cure for Malaria. Arkansas City, Ark. C. C. HEMINGWAY.

Boils, abscesses, sores, dark or yellow spots and debility are some of the symptoms of this miserable disease. S. S. MONKEY PRANKS.

The Way One Cunning Ape Served a Thieving Crow.

Recently a monkey got the better of the common enemy, the carrion crow, by feigning illness. He was fastened to a bamboo pole with a running ring. When he was on his perch the crows annoyed him by stealing from his pinger on the ground.

One morning they had been specially disagreeable. He closed his eyes and feigned a bad illness. When his day's food was brought him the crows descended upon it, and he had scarcely strength to defend it. By good acting he managed to capture one of the crows. To pluck it alive was the obvious course. Then, instead of pulling it to pieces, like the king monkey whom Kipling and Sir Edward Buck watched enjoying a similar triumph at Simla, this monkey tossed the crow into the air, where its own companions fell upon it and killed it.

Monkeys certainly have a sense of fun. Darwin used to spend hours watching a young female orang outang in the zoological gardens and was sure that she had the comic sentiment. She delighted to put upon her head, like a cap, a peculiar shaped bowl, which had a droll effect, and she was sensitive to the effect which her joke produced upon the spectators.—Lancet.

Consular Agent Resigns.

City of Mexico, Jan. 25.—Edward H. Light, for many years United States consular agent at Guanajuato, has resigned on account of ill health and was given a farewell reception in that city. He will immediately start for his home in California. Edward B. Davis will assume charge of the office as his successor.

City of Mexico, Jan. 25.—Dr. Li-caga, president of the superior board of health, states that as a result of the sanitary campaign initiated by the country against yellow fever the fever is practically wiped out, and there is not a single case now in the country.

HAMLINS WIZARD OIL

This marvelous pain remedy will quickly relieve the spasms which wrack the tortured nerves, and, if taken internally, will permanently cure the cause of the disease.

"I had been a sufferer for years," writes Calvin E. Hill, of Marietta, Ga., "from the frightful pains of neuralgia, and never found any remedy that would give me relief, until I tried Hamlin's Wizard Oil, which effected a permanent cure."

Railway Promoter Arrested.

Portland, Ind., Jan. 25.—Smith H.
Bracey of Chicago, president of the Cincinnati, Bluffton and Chicago Railroad company, now in the hands of a receiver, was arrested on a warrant issued at the instance of County Surveyor J. J. Griffith, who charges Bracey with having obtained money under false pretenses. Griffith alleges that he has loaned to Bracey various sums,
from $700 to $5,000, which were to have been used in the construction of the railroad. No sooner was the road completed, according to the complainant,
than the road was thrown into the hands of a receiver. Bracey, who is president of the Bracey-Howard Construction company of Chicago, subsequently filed a mechanic's lien
against the railroad for $200,000.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

"IN the will of the Marquis de Ligne, probated yesterday, all of the property, real and personal,
is left to his daughter, Constance," wrote Straws in his paper
shortly after the passing of the French
nobleman. "The document states this disposition of property is made as 'an act of atonement and justice to my daughter, whose mother I deserted,
taking advantage of the French law to annul my marriage in England.' The legitimacy of the birth of this, his only child, is thereupon fully acknowledged by the marquis after a lapse of
many years and long after the heretofore unrecognized wife had died deserted and forgotten. Thrown on her own resources, the young child, with no other friend than Manager Barnes,
battled with the world, now playing in taverns or barns, like the players of interludes, the strollers of old, or 'vagabonds,' as the great and mighty Jun-
ius from his lofty plane termed them.
The story of that period of 'vagrant'
life adds one more chapter to the annals of strolling players which already include such names as Kemble, Siddons and Keen.

"From the Junius category to a public favorite of New Orleans has been no slight transition, and now to appear in the role of daughter of a marquis and heirress to a considerable estate—truly
man, and woman, play many parts in this brief span called life. But in making her sole heir the marquis specifies
a condition which will bring regrets to
many of the admirers of the actress.
He robs her of her birthright from her mother. The will stipulates that the recipient give up her profession, not because it is other than a noble one,
but that she may the better devote
herself to the duties of her new position and by her beneficence and charity remove the stain left upon an honored name by my second wife, the Duchess d'Argens."

On the same day this public exposition appeared Barnes and the young actress were seated in the law office of Marks & Culver, a room overlooking a courtyard brightened by statues and urns of flowers. While the manager and Constance waited for the attorney
to appear they were discussing, not for the first time, the proviso of the will
to which Straws had regrettably alluded.

"Yes," said Barnes, folding the newspaper which contained Straws' article
and placing it in his pocket, "you should certainly give up the stage. We must think of the disappointments, the
possible failure, the slender reward.
There was your mother—such an actress! Yet toward the last the people flocked to a younger rival. I have often thought anxiously of your future, for I am old—yes, there is no denying it—and any day I may leave you,
dependent solely upon yourself."

"Do not speak like that," she answered tenderly. "We shall be together many, many years."
"Always if I had my way," he returned heartily. "But with this legacy
you are superior to the fickle public.
In fact, you are now a part of the capricious public, my dear," he added
in a jocular tone, "and may applaud
the 'heavy father,' myself, or prattle
about prevailing styles while the bus-
kined tragedian is strutting below your
box. Why turn to a blind bargain? Fame
is a jade, only caught after our illusions are gone, and she seems not half so sweet as when pursuing her
in our dreams."

Now, reading the anxiety in his face
as he watched her, she smiled reassur-
ingly, her glance, full of love, meeting
his.

"Everything shall be as you wish,"
she said softly. "You know what is best!"

The manager's face lighted percepti-
bly, but before he could answer the

He stood for a moment watching them.
door opened and Culver, the attorney,
entered. With ruddy countenance and youthful bearing, in authentic in the hair silvered with white, he was one of those southern gentlemen who grow
old gracefully. The law was his thirdmaster; he practiced from a sense of duty, but ever held that those who

rushed to court were likely to repeat
the experience of Voltaire, who had twice been ruined—once when he lost
a lawsuit, the second time when he won one! Nevertheless, people persisted in coming to Culver wantonly welcoming unknown ills.

"Well, Miss Carew," he now exclaimed, after warmly greeting his visitors,
"have you disburdened yourself of prejudice against this estate? Wealth
may be a little hardship at first, but soon you won't mind it."

"Not a bit!" spoke up Barnes. "It's
as easy to get used to as—poverty, and we've had plenty of that!"

"You know the other condition?" she said, half defiantly, half sadly. "You are to be with me always."

"How can you teach an old dog new tricks?" protested Barnes. "How can you make a fine man about town out of a 'heavy father'?"

"The 'heavy father' is my father. I never knew any other. I am glad I never did."

"Holt to it!" he exclaimed scoffing-
ly, but pleased nevertheless.

"You can't put me off that way," she said decisively, with a sudden flash in her eyes he knew too well to cross.
"Either you leave the stage, too, or—"

"Of course, my dear, of course!"

"Then it's all settled you will accept the incumbency to which you have fallen heir," resumed Culver. "Even if there had been no will in your favor, the state of Louisiana follows the French law, and the testator can under no circumstances alienate more than half his property if he leave issue
or descendants. Had the old will remained, its provisions could not have been legally carried out."

"The old will!" said Barnes. "Then
there was another will?"

"One made before he was aware of your existence, Miss Carew, in favor of his ward, Ernest Saint-Prosper."

"Ernest Saint-Prosper?"

Constance's cheeks flamed crimson,
and her quick start of surprise did not escape the observant lawyer. Barnes,
too, looked amazed over this unexpected intelligence.

"Saint-Prosper was the marquis' ward?" he cried.

The attorney transferred his gaze
from the expressive features of his client to the open countenance of the manager. "Yes," he said.

"And would have inherited this property but for Constance?"

"Exactly. But you knew him, Mr.
Barnes?"

"He was an occupant of the chariot,
sir," replied the manager, with some feeling. "We met in the Shadengo valley. The company was in sore
straits, and—and—to make a long story
short, he joined our band and traversed the continent with us. And so he was the marquis' ward! It seems almost incredible."

"Yes," affirmed Culver; "when General Saint-Prosper, his father, died, Ernest Saint-Prosper, who was then but a boy, became the marquis' ward and a member of his household."

"Well, well, how things do come about!" ruminated Barnes. "To think
he should have been the prospective
heir and Constance the real one!"

"Where is he now?" asked the attorney thoughtfully.

"He has gone to Mexico; enlisted.
But how do you know he—"

"Had expectations? The marquis told me about a quarrel they had had. He was a staunch imperialist, the young man as firm a republican. What would be the natural outcome? They parted
in bitter anger."

"And then the marquis made him his heir?" exclaimed the manager incredulously. "How do you reconcile that?"

The attorney smiled. "Through the oddy of my client. 'Draw up my
will,' said the marquis to me one day,
'leaving all my property to this republican young dog. That will cut off the distant relatives who made the sign of the cross behind my back, as though I were the evil one. They expect it all.
He expects nothing. It will be a rare joke. I leave them my affection and the privilege of having masses said
for my soul.' The marquis was always
of a satirical temperament."

"So it seems," commented the manager. "But he changed his mind and his
will again?"

"After he met Miss Carew."
"Met her?" exclaimed Constance,
aroused from a maze of reflection.

"Near the cathedral. He walked and talked with you."

"That poor old man!"

"And then came here, acknowledged
you as his daughter and drew up the final document."

"That accounts for a call I had from him," cried Barnes, telling the story of the marquis' visit. "Strange I did not suspect something of the truth at the time," he concluded, "for his manner
was certainly unusual."

A perplexed light shone in the girl's eyes. She clasped and unclasped her hands quickly, turning to the lawyer.

"Their quarrel was only a political difference?" she asked at length.

"Yes," said the other slowly. "Saint-Prosper refused to support the fugitive king. Throughout the parliamentary government, the restoration under
Louis XVIII, and the reign of King Charles X, the marquis had over a devout faith in the divine right of monarchy. He annulled his marriage

the first marriage, and the duchess died. All this, however, is painful to you, Miss Carew?"

"Only such as relates to my mother,"
she replied in a clear tone. "I suppose I should feel grateful for this fortune,
but I am afraid I do not. Please go on."

Culver leaned back in his chair, his glance bent upon a discolored statue of Psyche in the courtyard. "Had the marquis attended to his garden, like Candide or your humble servant, and eschewed the company of kings, he might have been as care free as he was wretched. His monarchs were knocked down like ninepins. Louis XVIII. was a man of straw, Charles X. a feather
top and Louis Philippe a toy ruler. The marquis' domestic life was as unblest
as his political career. The trail duchess left him a progeny of scandals. These, the only offspring of the iniquitous dame, were piquantly dressed
in the journals for public parade.
Fancy, then, his delight in disinheriting
his wife's relatives and leaving
you, his daughter, his fortune and his name!"

"His name!" she repeated sadly.
With averted face she watched the fountain in the garden. "If he had given it to my mother," she continued,
"but now—I do not care for it. Her name is all I want." Her voice trembled, and she exclaimed passionately:
"I should rather Mr. Saint-Prosper
would keep the property and I—my work. After denying my mother and deserting her, how can I accept anything from him?"

"Under the new will," said Culver,
"the estate does not revert to Mr. Saint-Prosper in any event. But you might divide it with him," he added suddenly.

"How could I do that?" she asked
without looking up.

"Marry him," laughed the attorney.

But the jest met with scant response,
his fair client remaining motionless as a statue, while Barnes gazed at her furtively. Culver's smile gradually faded. Uncertain how to proceed, re-realizing his humor had somehow mis-
carried, he was not sorry when the manager arose, saying:

"Well, my dear, it is time we were at the theater."

"Won't you accept this nosegay from my garden, Miss Carew?" urged the lawyer in a propitiatory tone as they were leaving.

And the attorney not only accompanied them to the door, but downstairs
to the street, where he stood for a moment watching them drive down the thoroughfare. Then he slowly returned, breathing heavily—invidious
contradiction of his youthful assumption—and shaking his head as he mounted to his room.

"Culver, you certainly put your foot
in it that time!" he muttered. "How she froze at my suggestion! Has there been some passage of arms between them? Apparently! But here am I, pondering over romances, with all this
legal business staring me in the face."
His glance swept a chaos of declarations, bills, affidavits and claims. "Confound the dusty old courthouse and
the bustling Yankee lawyers who set
such a disturbing pace! There is no longer gentlemanly leisure in New Orleans."

He seated himself with a sigh before a neglected brief. In the distance
the towers of the cathedral could be seen, reminding the attorney of the adjacent halls of justice in the seraggy
looking square, with its turmoil, its beggars and apple women in the lobbies; its ancient, offensive smell, its rickety stairs, its labyrinth of passages and its babel of tongues. Above him, however, the plaster bust of Jus-
titian out of those blank, sightless
eyes continued the contemplation of the garden as though turning from

OHIO NEWS

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

To Take Over Traction Line.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 25.—Articles of incorporation for the Cincinnati Traction
company have been mailed to Columbus. The capital stock is $500,000.
The purpose of the organization is to take over the Cincinnati, Dayton and Toledo Traction company, on leasing proposition, which is to be formally voted on Thursday in Hamilton. Under the terms of the lease the interests
which will take over the property are
to spend in first two years $1,500,000
in improvements. Under the lease the new corporation will take the unissued
stock of the Cincinnati, Dayton and Toledo, which is $1,500,000 in bonds
and a similar amount in stock.

Double Tragedy.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 25.—In Lake-
wood, a suburb of Cleveland, George Wagar shot and killed his brother
John. A policeman, John Klaymer,
who had been called to the Wagar
home, was shot through the stomach
by Wagar. A number of village officers surrounded the house for the purpose of arresting Wagar. The cause of the shooting is supposed to have been over the settlement of the Wagar
estate, for which John Wagar was administrator.

Carnegie's Offer.

Oberlin, O., Jan. 25.—President King
of Oberlin college announced that he had received a letter from Andrew Carnegie offering to give to Oberlin
college $125,000 for a library, conditional upon the raising by the institution of $100,000 to maintain the same.
The college officials will at once go to work with a view to securing the required fund. The offer from Mr. Carnegie was in response to an appeal
to him from President King in April of last year.

Hamilton's Plea Rejected.

Columbus, O., Jan. 25.—The supreme court overruled the motion for leave to file a petition in error in the case of Herman Hamilton against the state,
coming from Scioto county. Hamilton was convicted of murder in the first degree and is in the annex under sentence to be executed Friday morning.
An application will be made to the governor for a respite in order that the case may be presented to the pardon
board.

Shortage Alleged.

Gallipolis, O., Jan. 25.—Postmaster
Smith of Pomeroy was arrested by Postoffice Inspector Oldfield, charged with being $1,000 short in his accounts. Smith was brought to Gallipolis and had his hearing before Commissioner Bradbury. He was bound over to the federal court at Columbus
in the sum of $2,000, which he gave.

Fell Into Vat of Hot Water.

Akron, O., Jan. 25.—John Lockwood,
a mechanic, fell into a vat of boiling
water in the plant of the Acme Wire
and Steel company in Cuyahoga Falls,
and was fatally scalded. He died at the City hospital. He was working on a ladder when it turned and threw him
into the vat. He was 54 years old.

Got Seven Years.

Urbana, O., Jan. 25.—Seven years in the Ohio penitentiary, no part of which
to be spent in solitary confinement but
all of which shall be spent at hard labor, was the sentence passed upon William Wooley, the self-confessed
perjuror, by Judge Middleton in the court of common pleas.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Stylish Lady's Ties Designed by Martha Dean

Very suggestive of the winter girl are
the smart, fresh, crisp tailor made stocks
of pique madras, linen and pongee
silk. They take on all manner of shapes
but the newest are modifications of the mens ties. The feminine touch, however, is given the hand embroidery, or perhaps a monogram, which is used well down toward the end of the tie. These ties have entirely superseded the old stiff
linen collars that were so very uncon-
fortable and the thin lawn ones that did not keep their shape. The pattern provides for the stock and three different style ties. With such a model to follow,
one can buy material enough for a dozen ties at the cost of one ready made. The ties require such a small piece of goods
that no doubt pretty ones could be made from "left over scraps" of gingham or madras waists. Black silk is very pretty,
using a white turnover. Many are making bright green ties, which, it must be admitted, are very smart with white waists. Pattern No. 516. Sizes, small, medium and large.

SAN DOMINGO.

The treatment outlined some time ago for the perilous insolvency and anarchy in San Domingo has been applied by our government with the consent of the temporary rulers of that helpless community. The United States would not take San Domingo as a gift, for that would be not borrowing, but appropriating, trouble of the worst sort. Neither can it afford to let any European power seize an island at our side-door for debt. The United States will take charge of the custom houses pay off foreign debts and guarantee independence and order in the island. That is the wisest and fairest policy possible under the circumstances. It will be approved by the world's public opinion.

SENATOR STONE'S STRATEGY.

The zeal of the Hon. William J. Stone, United States Senator from Missouri, familiarly known in his own bailiwick as "Gum Shoe Bill," in inaugurating a crusade for political reform creates irreverent mirth in some quarters. Mr. Stone asks for a congressional inquiry into the alleged corrupt collection and expenditure of money in the campaigns of 1896 and 1904. This action recalls his own attitude toward corruption and reform in Missouri in recent campaigns. "So fierce was his zeal against corruption," the New York Sun observes, "that he fought tooth and nail, and the nomination of the Hon. Joseph Wingate Folk for governor of Missouri, and by way of supporting the campaign against boodle he went to Europe." While it is by no means essential that a man who drives fat cattle, should himself be fat it is necessary, if a movement of this sort is to be taken seriously by the public, that the prime mover therein should be a public man who has not been as conspicuous among the enemies of straight politics as Senator Stone of Missouri.

Russia's Riots
An Old Story

The center of the world interest has shifted from the plains of Manchuria to the streets of St. Petersburg—the mysterious city—that are now red with the blood of citizens shot down by soldiery all because they ventured to ask their sovereign that their lives might be brightened just a little by what we in America have been used to ever since John Hancock wrote his massive letters. Everybody should know more of Russia and what has driven the people of that benighted land into revolution. Histories are dry but a romance founded on almost the same thing that is going on there today is brimful of interest and holds the reader with unusual intensity. In a few days The Age will begin the publication of a new serial, "The Sowers" by Henry Seton Merriman—masterpiece of fiction, and dealing with dark, mysterious Russia.

BROKE DOWN
AT THE VERDICT

Young Tucker Found Guilty
Of Murder by Cambridge Jury.

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 25.—Murder in the first degree was the verdict of the jury in the case of Charles L. Tucker of Auburndale, charged with the murder of Miss Mabel Page, 41, who was stabbed to death at her home on March 31. Tucker collapsed utterly when the foreman read the verdict. He was led to the jail in an exhausted condition, and when once more locked in his cell revived somewhat under stimulants administered by a physician. Before the case was given to the jury Tucker availed himself of the opportunity to address the jurors, and declared his innocence, saying he was at home when Miss Page met her death. He said he foolishly broke up the knife, which figured so prominently in the case, because officers hounded him. He said he knew nothing of the crime until reporters came to talk to him about it.

THOMAS MEMORIAL
CONCERT AT CINCINNATI

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 25.—By unanimous vote the May Festival chorus decided to give a public concert in memory of the late Theodore Thomas, at such date as may be possible to secure the attendance and assistance of the Chicago orchestra, of which Theodore Thomas was the organizer and director. Many of the same numbers given at the recent memorial meeting in Chicago will be included in the program, and the performance will also be notable because it will bring together the great chorus of Cincinnati, of which Mr. Thomas was the first and only director, and the Chicago orchestra, to which a large part of his life was devoted.

BITTER COLD
IN KANSAS

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

Kansas City Jan. 25.—The coldest weather of the winter is prevailing throughout Kansas and western Missouri. A bitter north wind is blowing. The body of an unknown man was found in a strawstack at Wichita, probably having been frozen to death.

ANOTHER BUSINESS MAN
WANTS PAID FIRE DEPT.

"Editor Age—I want to indorse most heartily the communication of George M. Gray in Tuesday's Age and add that it is a topic that vitally interests every one in Coshocton who owns a home or building of any kind. 'Coshocton needs a paid fire department and should have it. Her size now demands it. I doubt whether there is another city in Ohio of 2576 population or more, that is without ample fire protection. It is the accepted time to talk, right now; no need doing any talking after the

GOT VERDICT
AGAINST RAILROAD

William Bachert Awarded
About $300 For Damages
By Switching.

The jury in the case of W. H. Bachert vs. the P. C. C. & St. L. railway company went out a four o'clock Tuesday afternoon and returned Tuesday night at nine o'clock with a verdict of $287.25 for the plaintiff Mr. Bachert sued for $117.

The claim resulted from a derailed car which struck the water tank at the paper mill and knocked it down. The railroad company replaced the tank but Mr. Bachert's claim for damages was based on the fact that the paper mill had to be closed down four days while repairs were being made. J. C. Adams and Pomerene & Pomerene and Judge Dunbar of Steubenville were the attorneys.

There is a lull in business in common pleas court Wednesday no cases being set for trial until Thursday when the case of W. Hagelbarger vs. The Novelty Advertising company will be heard. Following that comes the case of A. N. Stilwell vs. Grace-oroco Pash.

Wants Alimony.

Allie O. Baker, through his attorney, T. H. Wheeler, has commenced suit for alimony in probate court against James R. Baker on the grounds of gross neglect of duty and wilful absence for over three years. She asks alimony for the support of herself and one child about five years old. The parties lived at Plainfield and were married in 1898. The defendant left his wife and is now in Colorado. He is under indictment for failure to support his minor child.

Licensed To Marry.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

THE CHARGE AGAINST SECRETARY PAUL MORTON.

Paul Morton, secretary of the navy, has been the recent object of attack in newspapers and in congress because of the allegation that while a vice president of the Santa Fe system he made certain rebates to favored shippers in violation of the law. The revelation is said to have been made during the inquiry into the subject by the interstate commerce commission.

HEN LAID EGG
OF MONSTER SIZE

A hen belonging to J. Y. Jackson, of 941 South Lawn avenue, has evidently become ashamed of her feathered friends and the high price they are getting for their eggs and yesterday came to the rescue of the family by laying a monster egg, the weight which is a full quarter of a pound. The egg is on exhibition at the Central Grocery.

ROOSEVELT'S
ANCESTORS

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

New York, Jan. 25.—The annual dinner of the American Irish Historical society was held at the Hotel Manhattan. President Roosevelt, a member of the society, had been expected to attend, but sent his regrets in a letter, adding that he expects to be able to attend a dinner of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, to be held at Delmonico's on March 17. A second letter from the president, read by a member of the society, alluded to Mr. Roosevelt's Irish ancestors, who came to Pennsylvania early in the seventeenth century.

ROSCOE

A special enumeration of Roscoe is being taken this week under the direction of The Age.

In 1900 the federal census gave it 632. That was more than four years ago.

Anybody who desires is entitled to ONE guess.

The guess costs nothing and there are no conditions. If you mutilate your coupon another may be had at The Age office for the asking.

To the one guessing nearest the result of the special enumeration there will be given a year's subscription to The Daily Age.

My estimate of Roscoe's population as shown by The Age's special enumeration is

MORE RED TAPE
READY FOR JUDGE
SWAYNE'S IMPEACHMENT

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

Washington, Jan. 25.—The senate took an important step in the impeachment trial of United States Judge Swayne of the northern district of Florida. The organization for the trial was perfected by the swearing of the senators for that purpose; the managers of the house were received for the purpose of formally presenting the articles of impeachment and a resolution summoning Judge Swayne to appear was accepted. Mr. Platt of Connecticut was elected to preside at the trial sessions. Further proceedings were postponed until Friday next, when Judge Swayne is expected to appear before the bar of the senate to answer to charges of the senate.

THE CALENDAR.
Today—The Woman's club is meeting at the library.
The Roscoe Woman's club is meeting with Mrs. George Hill. The Protected Home Circle meets this evening.
The ladies of district number one of the Presbyterian church give a chilleconcarne supper in the Gray building.
Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Valentine entertain for their daughter, Garnet.
Tomorrow—The George Crampton Concert company at Grace church.
Mrs. James R. Johnson entertains in the afternoon.
Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Hooker and Miss Hutchins of Roscoe entertain.

Home Study Circle.
The Home Study Circle met on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Carnahan, the attendance considering the condition of the weather, being very good. The current events dealt primarily with the Russian situation but many other interesting facts came up for their share of consideration.

Miss Greagor had an excellent paper on "The Mormons." She began with a resume of the status of the Smoot case at the present time and then discussed both sides of the Mormon situation in a highly entertaining manner. She spoke of the origin of the sect in New York state, of their subsequent removal to Ohio and then on to the Salt Lake region where they are today. Their beliefs, doctrines and practices and the effect on men and women alike were exhaustively discussed.

Miss Houston had for her subject "The Chinese Emigration Bill." She mentioned the different articles written both for and against it by men well qualified to know. Compensations is, of course, against it as it cheapens labor but another writer who spent some time in China in the service of the government said that we are too hard on the Chinese, that we are admitting many other worse emigrants and allowing them to be naturalized. The paper was excellent and showed many phases of a very important question.

The next meeting will be February the seventh with Mrs. Wendt

Wedding at Otsego.
The wedding of Miss Emma Bradford and Mr. Joseph McLaughlin will be quite a society event of this evening at Otsego. The bride is one of the well known and popular girls of this vicinity and the groom is the field superintendent of the Otsego Oil company. The ceremony will be performed at the bride's home and will be witnessed by a large company of the friends of the two young people who will start them on their life together with heartfelt good wishes and congratulations.

The bride is a relative of Wm Smith of Coshocton.

Party in Roscoe.
Mrs. Alonzo Clark, Mrs. Hooker and Miss Hutchins will entertain a number of Coshocton and Roscoe ladies on Thursday afternoon at their home in Roscoe Entertain at Cards.

Mr. and Mrs. William Merrell will entertain at cards on Friday evening at their home on Main street

Ladies League.
The Ladies league of the Christian church will meet on Friday afternoon with Mrs. George Shrake of North Eighth street.

The Sewers.
The Sewers had a delightful meeting with Miss Macra Palm of Sycamore street on Tuesday evening. Miss Nellie McGinnis was a guest and the members present were Mrs.

Mrs. Johnson Entertain.
Mrs. James R. Johnson will entertain a number of ladies on Thursday afternoon at her home on South Third street.

Knights of Pythias Dance.
The Knights of Pythias are making elaborate arrangements for the dance they are to give in their lodge rooms on Thursday evening. There will be cards for those who prefer that form of amusement and the saxophone orchestra under the leadership of Dr. Haight will furnish music for the occasion.

While this is not the initial appearance of this musical organization it is the first time it has ever played for a dance and its music is said to be excellent.

The affair is to be quite a large one, one hundred and eighty-five invitations having been sent out.

Dance at Warsaw.
The following people enjoyed a dance January eleventh at the home of Mr. William Richards, near Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hamilton
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Randles
Mr. and Mrs. James Clark
Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Neldon
Mr. and Mrs. John Rodock
Miss Minnie Tompkins
Miss Bernice Thompson
Miss Cora Lower
Mr. Nathaniel Thompson
Mr. Clayton Parkhill
Mr. Howard Thompson
Mr. Perry Neldon
Mr. Albert Weatherwax
The music was furnished by Messrs Neldon and Weatherwax and the figures were called by Mr. James Clark

The Stitchery.
The ladies of the Stitchery met for their fortnightly stitching on Tuesday afternoon with Miss Lizzie Collier of North Second street. The afternoon was delightfully spent and ended with a tempting supper daintily served.

Miss Brant, of Hayesville, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Geidel, Miss Bratton, of California, who is visiting at the home of Mr. Warner Hay, Mrs. B. F. Voorhees and Mrs. Charles Geidel were guests.

The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. Raiff.

Shepler-Newton Dance.
A large crowd attended the dance given by the Shepler-Newton orchestra at Forbes' hall Tuesday evening. A number of new pieces were played and the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed. The next dance will be given on Thursday evening of next week.

Larrabee-Cassingham Wedding.
Many Coshocton people are happy over the announcement of the marriage of Miss Almada Larrabee of Port Alleghe, Pa. and Mr. Charles Cassingham, of Cleveland, which was celebrated in Boston last Friday evening at half past eight o'clock.

The happy event has been anticipated with much pleasure by an interested circle of friends and relatives and the fact that it was consummated a few months sooner than had been planned is a source of pleasure to them all.

Mrs. Cassingham is a most charming woman and possessed of many rare gifts. She was formerly a member of the faculty at National Park Seminary where she and Miss Carrie Cassingham became fast friends and this year is one of the vocal and elocution teachers at the Boston conservatory. In addition to her duties at the conservatory she has been chaperoning a happy bevy of girls for a winter in Boston, Miss Carrie being one of the party.

She has made several visits to Coshocton and with each visit has enlarged her circle of friends. Both she and Mr. Cassingham are to be warmly and sincerely congratulated. They will make their home in Cleveland.

Old Folks Concert.
An amusing event of the not far distant future is the Old Folks Concert which is to be given under the auspices of the ladies of district three and four of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Hosmer is in charge of the program.

Holloway Missionary Society.
The Holloway Missionary society of Grace M. E. church met on Tuesday evening with Mrs. Theodore Ward of South Lawn avenue.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Miss Dora Cave, after which Miss Madge Hamilton read a missionary story "A Sketch From Life." Miss Sadie Smith gave a piano solo, Miss Nellie Maxwell gave

"Slugs" by Jacob Bates and read by Miss Dorothy Adams.
The program concluded with a duet "The Lord is my Shepherd" by Mrs. Theil and Mrs. Ward.
The next meeting will be held with Miss Madge Hamilton

Trackwalkers Killed.
Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 25.—Joseph Livermore and J. W. Dickinson were killed by a railroad train near Palo. The men were walking on the track and failed to hear the approaching train.

Take Cancer In Time.
An English specialist declares that "too late" has yet to be said in one-half or three-fourths of the cancer cases when seen by the operating surgeon. A general acceptance of the view that cancer has usually a pre-cancerous stage and that this stage is the one in which an operation ought to be performed would be the means of saving many lives.

The Amateur Farmer's Success.
"There goes a 'book farmer' that refutes the stock joke about what failures they are."
"How is that?"
"His favorite text book is 'Success With Small Fruits,' and he has succeeded in growing the smallest fruit I ever saw."—Brooklyn Life.

to the constitution was the liquor clause, ousting liquor dealers or workers from our association. It will not affect us as I do not know of an instance in this sub-district, but it will cut a great figure in many places."

Asked regarding the outcome of affairs at the Wade and Morgan Run mines, President Green stated that the end would be this week. "President Haskins will have a conference with the operators in Cleveland," he said, "and the matter will be definitely and finally settled. Which way it will go I do not know. We are hopeful of the best."

The most pleasing action in the national convention, to Mr. Sullivan, is the passing of resolutions favoring co-operative stores. This Vice President Sullivan has favored and agitated much during the last few years.

Mr. Sullivan stated that he expected such stores established in Guernsey county and certain other sections of the local sub-district before long.

Member of One Himself.
Mr. Sullivan is himself a member of one of these stores, stock having been taken in one near Youngstown, more to encourage the miners than to receive benefit personally. He has agitated the movement and was instrumental in having the matter presented to the late national convention.

Marcum-Hargis Case.

Winchester, Ky., Jan. 25.—Judge Benton overruled the motions of plaintiffs for a new trial in the $100,000 damage suit of Mrs. Marcum against Hargis, Callahan and French, so far as the verdict exonerating Alex Hargis and B. F. French was concerned, and said had the verdict been otherwise he would have set it aside. He also overruled the motion of defendants for a new trial in behalf of James Hargis and Ed Callahan, against whom a verdict of $8,000 was given. Judge Benton said the question of contempt of court on the part of French in bribing witnesses to leave the state would be thoroughly investigated. An appeal was granted in each case.

February Lippincott's

A highly diverting American mystery story is "A Transaction in Rubies," the leading novelette in the February number of Lippincott's Magazine. Frederick Reddick, the author, seems to have responded to a demand for strong, thrilling detective stories such as this loss of jewels at a house party on Long Island, which cast suspicion upon all the guests and made them afraid to leave until the matter should be cleared up. The discovery of the thief by means of the impression of his thumb is ingeniously dealt with.

Marion Harland contributes a charming Southern romance entitled, "A War-Time Evangeline," which in substance and style presents this well known writer at her best. "The Slope," by Will Levington Comfort, is a tale of Manchuria. An American promoter's lovely daughter is the pivot around which stirring scenes revolve and carry conviction to the mind of the reader. "The Real Margaret," by Ina Brevoort Roberts, shows the astute New York reporter, whose quick wits pierces the disguise of an heiress who has been marked out for matrimony by a titled foreigner. Vincent Harpe's story called, "The Other One," is distinctly humorous. In this the man who missed the boat fared better than the one who caught it. The author of "Susan Clegg and Her Friend, Mrs. Lathrop," Anne Warner, displays her deft touch in dealing with human nature in the story she whimsically calls "And Maude."

A story of city politics, which is particularly bright and keen, is written by Arthur Hendrick Vandenberg, entitled "The Shrewdness of Hawkins."

Prof. Albert Schinz, of Bryn Mawr College, writes a woman's paper under the title "Miss or Mistress?" This is a discussion of the question whether a woman who is old enough to be married (and is not) shall be called "Mrs." Eben Rexford's article on "The Use of Growing Plants for Table Decoration" contains much valuable information on that subject. The noted New Jersey naturalist, Dr. Charles C. Abbott, contributes a quite delightful little sketch on "An Alpine Morning."

The many humorous pages called "Walnuts and Wine" are funnier than ever.

Elect Rockefeller and Morgan.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 25.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad company, J. Pierpont Morgan was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of E. D. Worcester and William Rockefeller was chosen to succeed E. V. P. Rossiter, resigned. No other changes were made in the board. The report presented to the stockholders showed a decrease in gross earnings for the year of $1,244,619.37, and decrease in net earnings of $177,293.37.

To Aid German Strikers.

Berlin, Jan. 25.—Twenty-seven Social Democratic meetings were held here to hear addresses by Socialistic members of the reichstag on the subject of the coal miners' strike. The meetings were so largely attended that the police had to close the doors of the halls before the hour announced for the beginning of the meetings. Sharp resolutions denouncing the Mine Owners' association and expressing sympathy with the strikers were adopted. Financial aid was also promised the strikers.

Negro Saved His Clothes.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 25.—Mary Elwart and Mary Parsons, two colored women, were burned to death in a fire that was started in their room by an overturned stove. A negro man occupying an adjoining room paid no attention to the shrieks of the women for aid, but saved his clothes from the burning building. He said he had to work too hard to buy his clothes to lose them saving women.

been resumed upon a limited scale. The employees in a few of the smaller factories went back to work, and the crowds of strikers in the streets were diminished. The troops in evidence were not so numerous as on Monday, and a more confident feeling exists in official circles that the energetic measures which have been inaugurated will insure the safety and quiet of the city. Underneath the surface, however, the ferment continues, and the public nervousness and apprehension as to future developments is still unallayed. Secret meetings of different classes in opposition to the existing order of things have been held in various places, but the divergent elements which were suddenly brought together by the tragic events of last Sunday are advancing on divergent plans, and no common ground of action has yet been found.

According to the official report the exact number of persons killed in Sunday's rioting was 96; wounded, 333.

SERIOUS

Is the Situation at Moscow and Other Industrial Points.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—The situation that now confronts the military authorities at Moscow city is much more serious than that in St. Petersburg. Out of over 1,000,000 inhabitants of Moscow, over two-thirds are workmen, including an exceedingly rough and turbulent element. At Kovno and Vilna, where strikes also have been begun, the workmen are following the St. Petersburg plan of marching about the city and inducing or forcing other workmen to leave their employment.

Inflammatory circulars have appeared in the streets. They are signed by the "Russian Social Democratic Labor Party." One read: "You saw the death and heard the groans of the wounded men, women and children. Who directed the soldiers to aim their rifles and fire bullets at the breasts of the laborers? It was the emperor, the grand dukes, the ministers, the generals, the nobles of the court. They are the murderers. Slay them. To arms, comrades. Seize the arsenals and the arms at the depots and at the gunsmiths. Lay low the prison walls. Liberate the defenders of freedom. Demolish the police and gendarmie stations and the government and state buildings. We must throw down the emperor and the government, and must have our own government. Long live the revolution. Long live the constituent assembly of the representatives of the people."

It is not known definitely whether Father Gopon, the leader of the workmen, is in Moscow or St. Petersburg. A proclamation said to emanate from him has been distributed, indicating that he has gone over body and soul to the Social Democrats.

All Depends on Moscow.

London, Jan. 25.—The Society of the Friends of Free Russia has decided to raise a fund for the St. Petersburg sufferers. An appeal will be made through the newspapers. The same society is arranging for a mass meeting in Queen's hall on Feb. 2. It is firmly believed and confidently stated by many Russians in London that the army will quickly become disaffected. These Russians say that much depends on Moscow, which is the true center of the revolutionary spirit, and assert that a declaration of independence will be issued at Moscow.

Waving the Red Flag.

Helsingfors, Finland, Jan. 25.—Thousands of workmen joined in a demonstration here. Assembling on the huge steps of the Nicolai cathedral they paraded the streets, waving red flags. The windows of public houses, hotels, breweries and a number of newspaper offices were broken. The police interfered rather late, arresting 50 of the workmen.

Situation in Poland.

Berlin, Jan. 25.—Rioting is reported to have occurred in Russian Poland. At Radom the soldiers and police are said to have exchanged volleys. Three officers are reported killed and a number wounded. Radom is a manufacturing town of 30,000, and about 60 miles from Warsaw.

Student Sympathizers.

Paris, Jan. 25.—Students of the Latin quarter, including a number of Russians, held a meeting in sympathy with the St. Petersburg strikers and attempted to make a demonstration. The police broke up the meeting. No serious incident occurred.

Want Machine Guns.

Berlin, Jan. 25.—The Russian government has ordered the Ludwig Lowe arms factory to supply as soon as possible 500 machine guns.

DO NOT SUPPRESS A COUGH

When you have a cough do not try to suppress it, but remove the cause. The cough is only a symptom of some disease, and the disease is what you should cure, then the cough will stop of itself. The most common cause of coughing is a cold. Anodynes will promptly suppress the cough, and preparations containing chloroform, opium, etc., are used for that purpose, but they do not cure the cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy on the other hand does not suppress the cough, but relieves it by removing from the throat and lungs the mucus which obstructed the breathing and allaying the irritation and thus the cough. It also opens the secretions and effectively and permanently cures the cold as well as the cough. For sale by C. E. Anderson, the druggist.

I accept a bottle free. I have never used Life Plant.

I offer YOU a three weeks' treatment as I did Mr. Mack, of Jefferson, Ohio. It cured him. It will cure you. Read what he says for Life Plant.

Jefferson, O., Nov. 29, 1904.

The Life Plant Co., Canton, O.

Gentlemen: This is to certify that Life Plant will do almost a miracle in curing cancer and other diseases it is recommended to cure. I was troubled with a bad cancer on my face and it got so bad my family began to be alarmed about it, for it was eating my face so fast I wouldn't have had any face by this time if it had not been for Life Plant. Inside of three months after I commenced to take Life Plant the cancer was all healed up perfectly sound, nothing but a scar left; nothing but Life Plant did it and I feel ten years younger than I did before I took Life Plant. I am over 75 years old. My wife was troubled with Catarrh and Sciatic Rheumatism and couldn't get across the room without the use of two canes when we both began to take Life Plant, and when we had taken six bottles my wife had no use for the canes and catarrh was all gone, so you see what Life Plant has done for us both. I praise Life Plant to every one, for it is the most perfect medicine ever brought before the people. Yours truly,
R. F. D. No. 3, Jefferson, Ohio.

THOUSANDS CURED BY LIFE PLANT

The testimonial I give here is just one of the thousands I have received. They are all voluntary statements. If Life Plant will cure cancer (which is caused by Uric Acid poison in the blood) the most stubborn of all diseases, it will cure any disease that is caused by an excess of Uric Acid poison in the blood. It has been failed to cure any case of RHEUMATISM, CATARRH, ECZEMA, CANCER, GOUT, SCROFULA, KIDNEY, LIVER, BLADDER or STOMACH trouble. Some of these cures are miraculous; some who were bed-ridden have been able to walk after taking three bottles; some who have been crippled for years have thrown away their canes and crutches; others who have not worked for years, and able to earn their daily bread, have not missed a day's work since taking Life Plant. Even this may not convince you that Life Plant does all I claim it will do, but to prove what I say is true, I will give you a full $1.00 bottle to try. I do not offer a SAMPLE as many others do, but I give you absolutely free a three weeks' treatment. I do not guarantee that one bottle will cure you, but I do guarantee that Life Plant will cure you quickly and permanently. I do not ask you to buy a bottle to try—I give you a bottle for the asking and I know it will do you much good; it may cure you entirely, for many have been cured by using just one bottle. Your doctor will charge you for medicine, whether it does you any good or not. I give you a full dollar bottle and it doesn't cost you a penny. Don't you think I am fair? I sympathize with you; I know how you suffer, and I want to cure you. I give you this one bottle to convince you that Life Plant is the very medicine you need. I know you want to be cured; I know you have spent a great deal of time and money and received no benefit of cure. I could not afford to give away thousands of bottles if it did not cure. A trial doesn't cost anything, so send today for it. I want to make you well and happy, and I want to begin now. One dose starts you on the road to recovery.

Squared Circle

Battling Nelson Once Managed by Jack Powell, American League Pitcher—"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien's Big Fortune.

"Battling" Nelson, the conqueror of Young Corbett, lives with his parents and nine brothers and sisters at Hegewisch, Ill. Nelson's correct name is Oscar Battling Matthew Nelson, so Battling is not a mere complimentary title, indicating fighting ability. Nelson was first brought to the attention of the fighting fraternity by Jack

Powell, pitcher of the New York Americans, who makes his home in St. Louis and who was less than two years ago manager and matchmaker for Nelson. To Nelson was also refused the privilege of trying his speed in a semiwind-up before the West End club of St. Louis.

About two years ago, when the fighting game was dull, Battling Nelson wired Powell to attempt to get the Dane a match at the West End club. There was nothing like a fight in sight for the Dane in Chicago at that time, and he decided to allow Powell to manage him and get him a fight.

Powell, who knew Nelson from his boyhood days, laid the matter before the West End club and asked that the fighting Dane get a tryout.

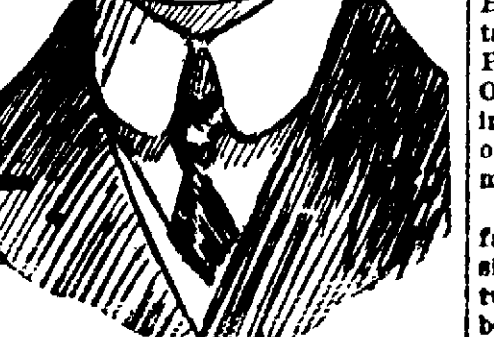

The management of the West End club took the matter under consideration and told Powell to come back in a day and they would let him know what they could do for Nelson. When Powell returned he was informed that Battling Nelson was too much of an unknown quantity to take a chance with.

Powell pleaded in vain to get the youngster a tryout. He then wrote Nelson of the result of his efforts to get a fight. Nelson was grieved over his failure to get a match and told Powell at that time that the clubs throughout the country would some day be glad to bid for his appearance.

After his failure to get on Nelson applied to other clubs for a go. Every place he got a chance to show he made good and in a short time was in demand as a fighting card.

Few Thought Nelson Would Win.

When he was matched to fight Young Corbett few thought he would win, although many conceded that he would give the Denverite a good fight. Jack Powell was one of the few followers of the fighting game who believed that Nelson could beat Corbett. As soon as the match was made Powell placed some money on Nelson's chances.

Philadelphia Jack

"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, the middleweight fighter, otherwise Joseph Hagan, who has been doing more fighting during the last three years than any other pugilist in the profession, is without a doubt the wealthiest fighter in the world. O'Brien says he has between $75,000 and $80,000 in ready cash and is the owner of twenty-one houses in the Quaker City.

The house he lives in at present is located at 3812 Locust street, Philadelphia. It is worth $25,000 alone. It is situated in the aristocratic section of the Quaker City, where the multimillionaires reside, O'Brien having for neighbors the Drexels and Halls. This house O'Brien has presented to his mother. He gave her the deed for it on the night of Oct. 3, when he gave a banquet to 200 business men of Philadelphia.

A Fortune in Fighting.

O'Brien made all his money fighting in the squared circle. Eight years ago this month O'Brien branched out as a pugilist. He boxed in amateur tournaments in the Quaker City, winning all of them. In December, 1896, he became a professional. He began by fighting six round bouts around the Quaker City and other towns and won all of them. O'Brien then got an idea that he could make more money by fighting in England than he could in America. He sailed for England in January, 1901, arriving on the other side the day before the queen's death. O'Brien got busy right away and lost no time in getting on a fight. As he won his first battle he had no trouble in securing other matches.

Won Sixteen Battles.

During his stay in that country O'Brien fought sixteen battles, winning every one of them, besides taking part in four tournaments. His success was so great in the ring that he secured twelve weeks of theatrical engagements at the big music halls.

O'Brien in the ring.

Out of these fights he realized $12,000 and captured the middleweight and heavyweight championship titles of Europe. After being away for thirteen months O'Brien came back to America again, arriving here in February, 1902. He then fought thirty fights in succession, the majority of them being six round bouts, which took place in Philadelphia. Since that time O'Brien says he has been making from $15,000 to $20,000 each year out of fighting.

Has Long Record.

O'Brien claims he has fought 156 battles and scored forty-four knockouts. He intends to fight only another year, after which he will quit the ring forever and become a full fledged lawyer. He is studying law now and expects to take the examination next June in Philadelphia. Besides studying law O'Brien is in the real estate business in Philadelphia, where he is known as one of the most prosperous business men in that section of Pennsylvania. O'Brien is the main support of a big family, consisting of his parents, six sisters and one brother. O'Brien sent two of his sisters abroad this year to be educated, their tuition costing him $3,500.

His Ambition.

O'Brien is anxious to become the middleweight champion of the world before he quits the game and has just posted a forfeit of $1,000 to fight Bob Fitzsimmons or Tommy Ryan at 155 pounds for the middleweight championship of the world.

THE PROGRAM.

Tonight—Buster Brown.

Saturday matinee at 2 and evening at 8:15—The Heart of Texas.

Monday, Jan. 20—A Remedy Match, musical comedy.

Tuesday, Jan. 31—The Bell Musical comedy.

Wednesday, Feb. 1—A Hoaxing Egyptian.

Buster Brown. Richard F. Outcalt's latest creation of Buster Brown, which the New York Herald has made so widely known, has been set as the center figure of a farce comedy with musical and ballet spectacular features, and will be exhibited at the Grand Street theater tonight. There has never been an imaginary character exploited by the funny page that has met with such wide acceptance. Generally inspired by praiseworthy intentions, but almost invariably leading to disaster, have caused Buster

Brown's impish doings to cause the heartiest laughter, and transferred to the stage they should prove equally amusing and successful. The well known manager Melville B. Raymond is presenting this play with his usual taste and liberality. America's leading little comedian, Master Giovanni, is the Buster, and Jack Bell, the animal impersonator, is Tigt, the dog. Some fifty people are engaged in the performance.

Heart of Texas.

Cortland N. Y. Standard—"Last night 'The Heart of Texas' was presented at the Opera House by Allan Villair, Pearl Lewis and a very good company. The play is a genuine thriller and yet it contains lines and scenes of the highest dramatic excellence; it tells a vivid heart story of love, hatred and jealousy, disclosing the extremes of human desires and passions. Some of the startling incidents are the attack by a mad wolf, the attempt to blow up 'Jack' with dynamite, the realistic den scene, where 'Jack' and 'Texas' are surrounded by a murderous lot of ruffians and engage in a thrilling fight for life and the robbery in the last act. The comedy is rich and plenty, the dialogue crisp, but clean, and the whole teaches a good moral lesson to the young and old. Allan Villair as 'Jack' was the ideal, picturesque hero, who fears nothing, and very pretty Pearl Lewis was a close second as the vivacious 'Texas'. She also did a very clever specialty. The balance of the company was competent and the scenery very pretty.

The above attraction appears for matinee and night only Saturday January 28 at the Sixth Street theater.

Musical Comedy Coming.

Manager Callahan announces something entirely new in the form of a musical comedy at popular prices playing here three nights—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 20, 21 and February 1. It is called The Great Eastern Stock company and has a new lot of musical comedians in its repertoire, with a car load of all new special scenery for each production, and a company selected from the best ranks of the profession. They will present "A Runaway Match" for the opening bill, then to follow "The Bell Boy" and "A Howling Egyptian." This will be the first time that these comedies have been produced at popular prices. Mr. Ben J. Green, the manager, pays a larger royalty for the use of these musical comedies than could be afforded by any of the less successful managers. But, considering the quality of giving only the best productions of the most worthy musical comedy that has been composed by "The Great Eastern Stock Co. in the past, it is easy to understand why they play to crowded houses and can afford to pay such heavy royalties. The company engaged by Mr. Green this season is superior to that of any popular priced attraction on the road and includes such well known stage folks as Italia, Miss Helen Leslie, Emeralds Cornwell, Carry Lee, Trilix Palmer, Patty Ford, Lora Nash, Mr. J. S. Murray, William Clifton, Harvey Brooks, Gus Friedman, Ben J. Green, Will F. Neff, Walter Archie Bailey, John J. Whalon, and others.

Denman Thompson and Geo. W. River's greatest of all character plays, "Our New Minister" which Callahan needs for the first time at the Grand Street theater shortly in the new great play, but one of the best of the present season. The company has not yet been announced.

Low Prices for January

Latest Food Product

Comes in Tablet Form and Replaces the Blood and Nerves What is Worn Out and Wasted Away.

In this way it builds up and repairs all manner of weaknesses, and enables one to throw off most of the ails of life. This preparation, known as Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food, overcomes and cures not only such common ails as nervous headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, nervous irritability, general debility, etc., but even such serious conditions as profound blood poverty, neurasthenia, paresis, dementia, locomotor ataxia, which have hitherto resisted all drug medication. It is not a dope, having a stimulating and only temporary effect, but is a food that feeds the depraved blood and starving brain and nerve cells, and in a natural manner restores them to structural integrity and perfection of function. To convince you that it is really a wonderful food cure, its makers, The Dr. Chase Co., Philadelphia, Pa., ask you to weigh yourself before taking it. Price 50 cents a box. Five boxes, enough to give you a new blood, enough to give you a new life.

The trouble was there seemed to be no one to make a motion for its passage. Evidently everybody intended to vote the other way. "We're all ready for it" said Mr. Craig.

Mr. Crawford expressed the opinion that the ordinance would be all right in some parts of the city but that it wouldn't do in other sections. Mr. Wisenbuck stuck to his opinion that the board of public service should have

Charge of the Matter
and not council Mr. Denzer made a motion that the ordinance be laid over two weeks but some one suggested that this was not necessary, that the ordinance would lie over without any motion. The ice and snow matter was then dropped and council turned its attention to less trivial subjects.

An ordinance was read providing for the appointment by the mayor of a

Janitor for the Buildings
and offices under the control of the board of public safety. This new officer is to do the janitor work about the city hall, give the fire alarms when he is on duty, clean and dry the hose after each fire and act as special policeman. His term of office will be two years.

The ordinance was prepared to provide for Seth Decker, who has been acting as janitor and filling the duties named in the ordinance, but who has not been acting under any ordinance but merely holding over. He has been drawing forty dollars per month. As there were only five members present when the ordinance was first read the rules could not be suspended and it was temporarily tabled.

A resolution providing for the admission of the fourth board of trade addition into the city was read and passed.

Paid Bond Bill.
The bill ordinance was read next. The bills read were as follows:
Age Publishing company, printing, $24 98
Seasongood and Meyer—judgment and interest from Oct. 29, $1011.82
E. S. Frew, mdse, for solicitor, $2 45
R. N. Kirk, final estimate for 7th street sewer, $102 60.
C. A. McNary, plumbing, $75 58
J. C. Adams, attorney for Seasongood & Meyer explained that the bill of his clients was a just one, that it was ordered by the common pleas court and that he thought it ought to be paid. He said the time for the filing of a bill of exceptions to carry the case up to the circuit court had already expired and that the sooner the bill was paid and the interest paid the better as his clients were anxious to get their money. Finally Mr. Adams said that he would be willing to drop the interest if council would end the matter by paying the judgment alone.

Mr. Adams stated that Attorney McDowell had told him that he did not intend

Carrying the Case Up
and that he would not insist on the payment of the money until Mr. McDowell sanctioned the bill. Mr. McDowell being in Fremont on business could not be consulted until his return but Mr. Adams wanted the bill paid to avoid another two weeks' delay. Dr. McCurdy dropped in at this juncture just as council had agreed to allow the judgment. The situation was explained to him and he also agreed. Solicitor Hahn said the bill would come out of the sinking fund.

Some question arose as to which fund the bill of C. A. McNary for plumbing in the new private office of the mayor. It was decided to cut this bill out until this matter can be determined. It was then moved by Mr. Wisenbuck and seconded by Mr. Pharrion that the other bills be paid. All voted aye.

The janitor ordinance was taken up again and by a suspension of the rules passed to its second reading. The salary in the ordinance had been left blank. It was decided to fix it at forty dollars, the same as has been allowed. The ordinance was finally passed all voting aye. The ordinance provides that the janitor shall be a resident of Coshocton and shall give bond in the sum of $200.

The ordinance admitting the Zerbe and Renner additions into the city was given three readings by a suspension of the rules and passed.

Mr. Denzer then brought up another matter which has been allowed

To Lie Dormant.
The code provides that each of the city boards shall make a monthly itemized statement to the council of the affairs in their departments. Mr. Denzer made a motion that this rule be enforced. All voted aye.

Mr. Crawford said that he and Mr. Denzer and Mr. Pharrion had been appointed sometime ago to confer with Mr. Heskett about extending Orange street into the third board of trade addition. He said the committee had done all it could do and that he for one would like to be discharged from the committee. The request was granted by President Weisner. It was suggested that condemnation proceedings be brought against Mr. Heskett in order to extend Orange street but no definite action was taken.

There being no other business council adjourned.
